Meetings: 10:15 3rd Wednesday in the Samworth Centre MM.

Poetry for Pleasure Group

The Poetry for Pleasure group meets on the 3rd Wednesday of the month in Melton. Each month we have a chosen theme and members bring their own selection to read. The topics are wide ranging, from everyday subjects to more abstract themes such as dreams. The poems also cover a huge variety, from philosophical and serious, to humorous and satirical. On occasions, our more creative members will bring a poem of their own, adding an original take on the chosen subject.

At the time of writing we are trying to set up a satellite group to run once a month along the same lines as the existing group, that is, using the same topic list. Because we are only 4 members at present, we are hoping that some others – maybe from one of the book groups – would like to try Poetry for Pleasure. The emphasis is on pleasure; we do not adopt an academic or analytical approach but bring our own interpretations and thoughts to share. These can often lead to a discussion as interesting as the poems.
